Department of Food.
New Delhi, the 30th March 1943.

PRESS NOTE.

A recent amendment of the Defence of India Rules enables the Central or the Provincial Government to require employers to supply foodstuffs, cooked or otherwise, to their employees and to the dependents of such employees. Employers are assured that it is not intended that any orders should be passed under this amendment unless either it is known that the employer is in a position to supply the foodgrain that would be required or that the Government concerned can supply or make available to an employer the quantity of foodgrain required to enable him to comply with the terms of any order that may be passed.

I am directed to refer to the Government of India, Defence Department notification No.5-DC(17)/43 dated the 27th March 1943 amending Rule 81(2) of the Defence of India Rules by adding sub-clause (bc) and to the Government of India, Food Department letter No.32-10/43-A dated the 30th March 1943 explaining the scope and object of that amendment. That amendment covered only food or foodstuffs and not other essential articles like kerosene oil etc. At the instance of the Government of Bombay, who wish to distribute kerosene in some parts of Bombay City and suburbs through employers, the Government of India have amended clause (bc) of Rule 81(2) of the Defence of India Rules vide Government of India Defence Department notification No.5-DC(17)/43 dated the 22nd Jan.'44. The amendment now made covers not only food and foodstuffs but all essential articles. Though this confers very wide powers, the Central Government hope that no Provincial Government will issue an Order under the amended sub-rule unless either it is in a position to supply or make available to an employer the quantity of essential articles required to comply with the terms of the Orders.
